

Message from the Senior Commander

Team Redstone:

Thanks you for all that you do to protect our Workforce. Given the most recent incident in Orlando, and the many activities we have scheduled for the coming weeks in support of the 75th Anniversary of Redstone Arsenal, I ask that we continue to reinforce the safety and security of our Soldiers, employees and workforce.

Collectively we must do everything within our power to identify threats and risks to our people, our installation and our community. Here are a few tips for you to consider as you continue to refine and implement your safety and security plans:

1. Monitor your surroundings and maintain situational awareness at all times.
2. Trust your instincts and report suspicious activity, "See Something...Say Something."
3. Download the Army iWatch Smartphone App to report unusual behavior or activity.
4. "Think before you post to Social Media." Limit your social media to friends and family. Always assume everyone will be able to see what you are posting.
5. Practice good home security; lock your home, keep the outside well lit and know who is on the other side of the door before opening.
6. Plan for emergencies and discuss those plans with family members.
7. Ensure your security and safety training is complete.

Please enjoy your planned events and summer activities while remaining aware of your surroundings. Report any suspicious activities or people to local authorities. We are all sensors who can help prevent a future tragedy while we enjoy all that the Tennessee Valley has to offer.

Larry Wyche
Lieutenant General, U.S. Army
Senior Commander